

INT. COMMERCIAL AIRPLANE, NIGHT

Passengers politely yet hurriedly shuffle onto the plane, "Sh-Boom" by The Chords plays.

CUT TO:

As PHIL finds his middle seat, he sees that his window seatmate LIZ has a 10 year-old child on her lap, she's busy fastening the seatbelt around both her and her son. He begins to sit down and gives her an understanding smile, as if nothing out of the ordinary is happening.

CUT TO:

KEV's feet step into ZACH's face, as KEV shuffles his feet around and says "oops, sorry." ZACH is tucked in the backpack stow area, he looks uncomfortable, but used to it.

CUT TO:

The fasten seat belt sign turns off, PAM looks up as she preps to stand up, she opens the bathroom door and there's 4 people crammed in, they slightly spill into the aisle once the door opens. They share an awkward half-beat as the occupants turn to see why the door is open.

CUT TO:

The attendant is walking through the aisle with her rolling cart, opens the lower portion, and a man inside hands her a bottled water. She closes it again.

CUT TO:

The captain in his cockpit is checking the instruments and adjusting the controls. We reveal that there are several people in there with him, with additional seating and just standing. He begins to make an announcement about turbulence.

CUT TO:

The plane is rumbling, and we're in the cargo part of the jet, a red emergency light on in the background, we see several checked bags are unzipped at the top and have heads sticking out of them. The people (in the bags) rumble as the jet takes off.

CUT TO:

Middle of the aisle, one of the overhead compartments swings open with a big gust of turbulence, 3 people fly out and into the aisle, and then hurry back up into the compartment.

CUT TO:

From the exterior, we see KASEY crammed against the window, looking outside longingly, there's a hoard of bodies shifting behind him, shifting with the turbulence. The camera pulls back as the super fades in.
